

Call out for Interior/ Design / Architecture students:

Design a Creative, funky interior design element --

Create designs for a large, screen room divider for the Lockleaze Community Association building

The Lockleaze Community Association (LCA) is opening a new café in summer 2016 to support a growing program of community activities in Stoke Park. The café will be housed in the current building, and will be open daily from 10am-4pm.

As such, we are seeking students to come up with some creative designs for a large, collapsible room divider (approximately 1.8m high x 7m long), which would serve to separate off the bar area of the club from the café terrace entrance, during opening hours.

The screen could be built on-site and an eco/natural or DIY design aesthetic is greatly encouraged, in order to keep within a tight budget.

This fun project offers a fantastic real-world opportunity to work with a client and benefit the local community, as well as the possibility to get your designs built!

We are recruiting now for this position, but are flexible to work around your coursework and exam schedules.

Let your imaginations run wild!

If interested, please send a brief email indicating your interest, course/year of study, and CV to Lisa Friedberg, Bristol Parkhive Project Coordinator, at Lisa.Friedberg@uwe.ac.uk.

Please also include a link to an online portfolio or examples of your work if you have them.
